TRADE AT HOME.

Probably one of the greatest evils to be contended with by young and growing towns is the fact of the spirit of competition. Those who are interested in the well-being of the town will do all in their power to pursue a new merchant or business man to come and help build up the place, and point out to him the many advantages that are only waiting for just such a person to take hold of. They succeed in their object. They get a new citizen and a new business. The town is so much the better off, but there they stop. Instead of taking him by the hand and helping him along so that he may become a contented and therefore a good citizen, they leave him entirely to himself, and indirectly they help to pull down the very industry that they have been instrumental in setting up—and this is the way in which it is done. Somewhere we have seen a remark printed which read like this: "The inhabitants of Elkhorn, when in need of certain work or certain articles send to Virden for it. Virden in a like case send to Brandon, Brandon to Winnipeg, Winnipeg to Toronto, Toronto to London," and so on, and simply because they imagine that the larger town must be able to provide their requirements at a lower price. They do not take it into consideration that a percentage of the money that they spend in their own town is certain to remain in their own possession through some channel, while that sent away is like the "ship that never returned." Now in order to help ones own town along it is necessary not only to live oneself, but also to let others live. It is an excellent rule to make to send out of your town for nothing, until you have got quotations of prices from your own dealers. Of course there are many things which business men in small towns can not keep in stock, but even in this case, it is only just that you should give the opportunity of supplying the required article to a dealer in that line, because though he may make a certain margin upon the transaction, yet the profit will not come out of your pocket, and it is a certain amount left in the town. We have been unfortunate enough to know people who made it a rule to do all their shopping out of their own town, except when they were in too great a hurry to wait for the arrival of goods, and then they would only get enough to "keep them going" till they could send to the city. Such people are no use whatever to the community, and are probably only keeping our sums far more useful man.
Another matter we may mention while upon the subject of live and let live. We will suppose that a new line is started in Elkhorn. Before it is well under-weigh a man from a neighboring town comes in and canvasses the town in the line which is just started. You say, "Oh, Mr. So and so, do deal in those goods"—and the reply will probably be "But what do you know of Mr. So and so, and how do you know that he—a new man—can give you the satisfaction that we—an older firm—can give?" and as often as not the argument will carry. Yet because Mr.

So and So is a new man, is that any reason why he should not be encouraged?
Surely not—give your new man the man who lives in your midst and spends his money in your town, a chance. If he fails to give you satisfaction, tell him, but don't try and freeze him out of the town before you have given him the trial that he deserves. If a little more of this spirit were infused into the life of the every day citizen, doubtless many of our towns would be in a far more prosperous state than that in which we find them to-day.

A SCOTCH CATTLEMAN

Expresses his views on the Scheduling of Canadian Cattle, and Gives Some Reasons Why It Should be Included.

Montreal, Canada. Mr. Thomas Swan, of the firm of John Swan & Sons, cattle salesmen of Elkhorn, was at the Windsor yesterday. This firm handled about 15,000 head of Canadian cattle last year, being the largest dealers in Canadian cattle and the second-largest handlers of home bred cattle in Great Britain. The firm, which is over fifty years old, has been receiving Canadian cattle since the inception of the export trade, having sold the first lot of cattle which came west from this side of the Atlantic—a shipment of six head made in 1873 from New York to John Bell.

Mr. Swan, in conversation with a Gazette representative, said that up to the time he left England there was no appearance of any relaxation of the restrictions on Canadian cattle. There was more politeness than pleuro in the question from the first and parties will have a lot to do with it in the future. The order was passed in the first place to suit the Irish, and when it was stated that Mr. Chippin, the late proprietor of the Board of Agriculture, that no cattle should be landed alive, is considered, it appears that the order now in force, allowing cattle to land alive, but refusing them the privilege of free removal, is a kind of compromise.

As a proof that Canadian cattle are not diseased, said Mr. Swan, I may say that my firm handled 15,000 Canadian cattle last year, three-quarters of which were bought by feeders, and not one animal showed any signs of pleuro. Every one of these cattle sold to our farmer customers were rejected to us in a diseased state for the fat market. Not one percent of the people conversant with the business believe that pleuro ever existed in Canadian cattle. In reference to the steamship Montserrat cattle, about which so much has been said, it may be stated, that Professor Williams, one of the highest authorities in the country, declared the animals slaughtered were not suffering from pleuro, and it is a well known fact that the moment the British board of agriculture declared that the Montserrat cattle were suffering from pleuro, persons who had bought cattle from this consignment withdrew them from their farms and substituted Irish cattle, which were valued and slaughtered as Canadians.
While it is supposed that all those Monks-ton cattle were slaughtered there are a great number of them still alive.

What will be the practical effect of these restrictions?

Our farmers will be compelled, in the absence of Canadian store cattle, to supply themselves with lean Irish or English store cattle, which, of course, takes a longer time to fatten than the Canadian stores. The Canadian farmers will naturally turn fatteners of their own stores, and while our farmers will be deprived of Canadian stock, they will have to compete during the next spring and autumn with cattle fattened in Canada which should have been fattened in our country.

The proposition to wait until the first cattle arrive in order to make an examination is wrong, continued Mr. Swan. I tried to impress this idea on Mr. Gardner and will repeat the matter to the Canadian ministers at Ottawa. If our Government is sincere and wishes to know at once whether Canadian cattle were diseased they could readily have satisfied themselves by sending officials to Canada to make a critical examination of the animals slaughtered in Montreal or Toronto, at which places disease would be more likely found, if it does exist, than in the cattle sent across the water. Mr. Swan would not express any opinion as to the prospects for the coming season.

Mr. John Mark accompanies Mr. Swan.
He is a large feeder and extensive buyer of Canadian store cattle. He has had a lengthy experience in feeding Canadians and says most emphatically that he has never seen the slightest symptoms of disease among them, and that if the order is not rescinded the Scotch feeders will be suffered very seriously.

Messrs. Swan and Mark went to Ottawa last evening. The former gentleman has a letter of introduction to Hon. Macdonald Bower from Mr. John Dyke, Canadian commissioner at Liverpool. An engagement has been made with the minister, and Mr. Swan hopes that his experience in the trade will be of some service to the government in their endeavor to reach a settlement of the question.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Editor of this paper wishes it to be distinct by understood that he in no way holds himself responsible for the opinions expressed by correspondents.

To the Editor of the Advocate:—

Dear Sir, I have read in your numbers several communications on the financial condition of the town and the need of cleaning up &c. I should wish to give you for public consideration, a few thoughts on the actual needs of the town.

In the first place an underground sewer age is practically out of the question, then the box barrel system must be adopted, by which all refuse matter, both solid and liquid, may be removed from the neighborhood of our dwellings and streets. In the second place, as only a few people have wagons and teams, the mass of the inhabitants would be unable to remove their garbage to the nuisance ground. This leads up to what is the only remedy or practical mode of dealing with the matter, viz: the employment of a regular agency for scavenging, by which the refuse might be sold and water would be removed.

As this place is not yet incorporated it might be necessary to petition the council to allow the inhabitants to tax themselves for this purpose.

Yours truly,
P. W. ROLSTON.

LET US HAVE TWO MILLS.

Sir,—Whilst the action of the Council in rejecting the petition to submit a bonus by law was a disappointment to a majority of the farmers in the Elkhorn district, it has had the effect of causing a more thorough discussion of the matter, with the result of showing that some who petitioned against the bonus did so from a conviction that, to carry out the present scheme, of a 100 barrel mill, would be to copy the mistake made in connection with the Virden mill.

One of the strongest arguments urged against the bonus is, that the mill at Virden has failed to meet the expectations of those who contributed towards its erection, owing to the fact that they have had to import from other points the mill stuff they had expected to secure at home, besides the fact that the mill has not been a competitor for the wheat raised in the district. This difficulty has now existed for the last five years and it is quite time to consider whether and how it can be removed. I need hardly state that to meet both these requirements we must have something more than a mere grist mill.

What is really required at both Elkhorn and Virden is a mill at least equal to that at Oak Lake, i.e. of 200 barrels capacity, and I would advance the following as reasons why the people of both districts are interested in promoting these improvements.

The "Farmers' Advocate," page 141, of 20th April, in discussing wheat grades, claims that all our 2 hard, 1 and 2 Northern and most of 3 hard would have passed at Duluth as No. 1 Northern, being practically equal in milling value. Turning to the Winnipeg market reports I find a difference of eight cents between these grades. Now it is obvious that the miller could afford to give the price of 3 hard for all these grades, or merely shade them, but the buyer for export cannot, as he has to run the gauntlet of the inspectors.

In the article quoted it is claimed that more mills in Canada, and a market for the off products, would improve our position. The fact that Elkhorn and Virden farmers are now dependent on outside mills shows that there already exists a market for the off products, but the addition of 82 to 84 freight materially affects the consumption. In view of the steady increase of population and the consequent adoption of mixed farming, it is safe to assume that two mills such as I have indicated would be able to dispose of the bulk of not all their output at home.

That the output of our dairies would be vastly increased by a daily ration of bran and shorts, except perhaps from 8 or 10 weeks from the middle of June, I am quite certain, and this is especially the case with those in town whose cows are herded in large droves, and on limited ranges, so that it would be to the interest of all stock owners to have at hand an unfailing supply at reasonable prices, where, as it is often impossible to secure them, even at the enhanced price.

But to secure this benefit requires the investment of so much capital that only a few are in a position to incur the necessary outlay.

What I would suggest is that, in addition to a liberal bonus to each of these mills, Virden and the Municipality should revive the scheme of erecting elevators, on the debentures of the town and Municipality. As the rent of these elevators would meet all payments of principal and interest, and as the Corporations could borrow money on more satisfactory terms than an private individual, it is plain that we could more readily make a bargain for the erection of mills of the indicated capacity, than if the miller had to furnish the capital necessary for both mill and elevator.

In conclusion I would urge that a careful estimate of the advantages here claimed will prove that, in the event of this proposition meeting the approval of the ratepayers, the taxation necessary to carry it would be a trifle in comparison with the benefits to be derived. Prompt action will be necessary in order to complete the scheme in readiness for the next crop.

Yours Respectfully,
JOHN FREEMAN,
Elkhorn, 22nd April 1893.

LIPPENTOTT ITEMS.

(From our own Correspondent)

The school near the residence of Mr. A. Findlay commenced the summer term on April 21, Mr. A. Clark is the teacher.

Mr. J. Holten has purchased an egg hatcher, it will give birth to 100 chickens at a time. So Mr. H. can count his chickens before they are hatched.

Sandy Purvie is loaded for a bear, he purchased a rifle of W. Longman, the one he shot Campbell's dog with.

Kerilas Campbell has gone to the Portage.

Mrs. B. Housin is recovering from her recent illness.

There has been quite a loss in stock around here, owing no doubt to the scarcity of feed.

Spring is very backward, but farmers are getting a move on now.

Mrs. T. N. Clark has returned from the Portage much improved in health.

W. Lund has moved up to 31.

Some half dozen of the friends of the public hall called forth the other day and at night they had almost completed the outside of the building.

The Patrons of Rose Glen Lodge intend having an open meeting after seeding, and as the people in this place don't do things by halves a good time may be expected.

(We have received a communication on "Public Hall at Lippentott" which will appear in our next issue.)

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENED.

The World's Fair was opened on Monday last, when Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, presided at the electric button which set in motion the electric button which set in motion the machinery of the World's Columbian Exposition.

Numerous crowds were in attendance and the Cottage Avenue cable cars resembled lumps of sugar covered with flies. Up to the boundaries of the pleasure the welcome was distinctively American, but from here on to the gates it partook of a decided cosmopolitan flavor.
